STEP INTO SPLENDOUR

YOUR HISTORIC PALACE

Exclusive use | 12 miles from London | Ceremonies 200
Seated 150 | Celebrations 300 | Honeymoon Suite
On-site accommodation

Set within 163 acres of parkland, Addington Palace is a Grade II*-listed Georgian mansion of rare heritage and distinction. Once the private residence of Archbishops of Canterbury and host to royalty, the Palace now offers an exclusive setting for weddings of stature.

Just 12 miles from central London, this tranquil estate combines timeless grandeur with complete privacy. Licensed for civil ceremonies and able to host receptions for up to 300 guests, Addington Palace is where exceptional celebrations begin.

GETTING READY

Dedicated dressing rooms at the heart of the Palace

At the top of the grand staircase, two private dressing rooms await: one for the bride, the other for the groom. Both are elegantly furnished, filled with natural light and period features, and include their own bathrooms.
The bride's dressing room is just steps from the Honeymoon Suite, offering a graceful flow from preparations to the day ahead. These spacious, private rooms are the perfect place to begin.

SAY I DO IN STYLE

Three distinct ceremony settings, one extraordinary day

Choose from three breathtaking spaces for your ceremony at Addington Palace. The Great Hall brings majestic scale, the Winter Garden offers elegance beneath arched glass, and the grounds provide a romantic outdoor setting framed by sweeping parkland.
Whether surrounded by carved stone, natural light or open sky, each space sets the stage beautifully for the moment you say ‘I do’.

ROOMS WITH PRESENCE

A suite of elegant rooms for every moment of your day

From welcome drinks in the Morning Room to canapés in the Music Room, every part of the Palace plays a role in your celebration. Guests can gather in the Library, enjoy quiet moments in the Lecture Room or simply explore the grandeur of each space as the day unfolds. Each room brings its own character and refinement, enhancing the rhythm and atmosphere of your day.

PORTRAITS IN THE LANDSCAPE

Gardens that frame every moment beautifully

The Palace is set within 163 acres of landscaped parkland, originally designed by Capability Brown. Manicured lawns, ancient trees and uninterrupted views over the Surrey countryside create a breathtaking backdrop for portraits, drinks and quiet moments. From the striking Cedar of Lebanon to the soft light across the terrace at dusk, every corner of the grounds offers a setting worthy of the occasion.

FEAST LIKE ROYALTY

A banquet setting of remarkable scale and beauty

Dine beneath soaring ceilings, silk-panelled walls and a magnificent French chandelier in the Great Hall. Designed by renowned architect Richard Norman Shaw, this grand room seats up to 150 guests for a wedding breakfast that feels truly regal. As champagne is poured and toasts are made, the grandeur of the surroundings elevates every detail. Few settings offer such a sense of occasion and grandeur.

LECTURE ROOM

WHEN THE PALACE COMES ALIVE

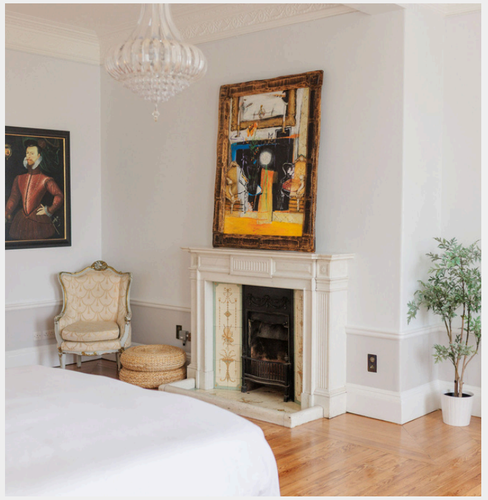

Celebrate into the night in unforgettable surroundings

As the sun sets, Addington Palace takes on a new energy. From the grandeur of the Great Hall to the glow of the Music Room and beyond, the Palace transforms into a spectacular setting for evening celebrations.
Whether you're enjoying a live band, dancing beneath a chandelier or raising a glass under the stars, every space becomes part of the party. With capacity for up to 300 guests, this is where the celebration truly begins.

A PLACE TO REST YOUR HEAD

A select number of rooms are included in the wedding package

Honeymoon Suite | Sleeps 2 | 1 Double Bedroom | 2 Bathrooms | Walk-In Wardrobe | Powder Room

Palace Bedrooms | Sleeps 4 | 2 Additional Guest Rooms

Longley House | Sleeps 12 | 6 Double Bedrooms | 2 Bathrooms | Moments from the main house

FURTHER ACCOMMODATION

Extend your stay within the estate

For guests not staying within the Palace itself, a few self-contained cottages are available across the grounds. Each one is thoughtfully furnished, offering a private place to retreat as the festivities wind down.

Perfect for close family or members of the wedding party, these peaceful residences allow loved ones to stay nearby. The celebration ends as beautifully as it began.

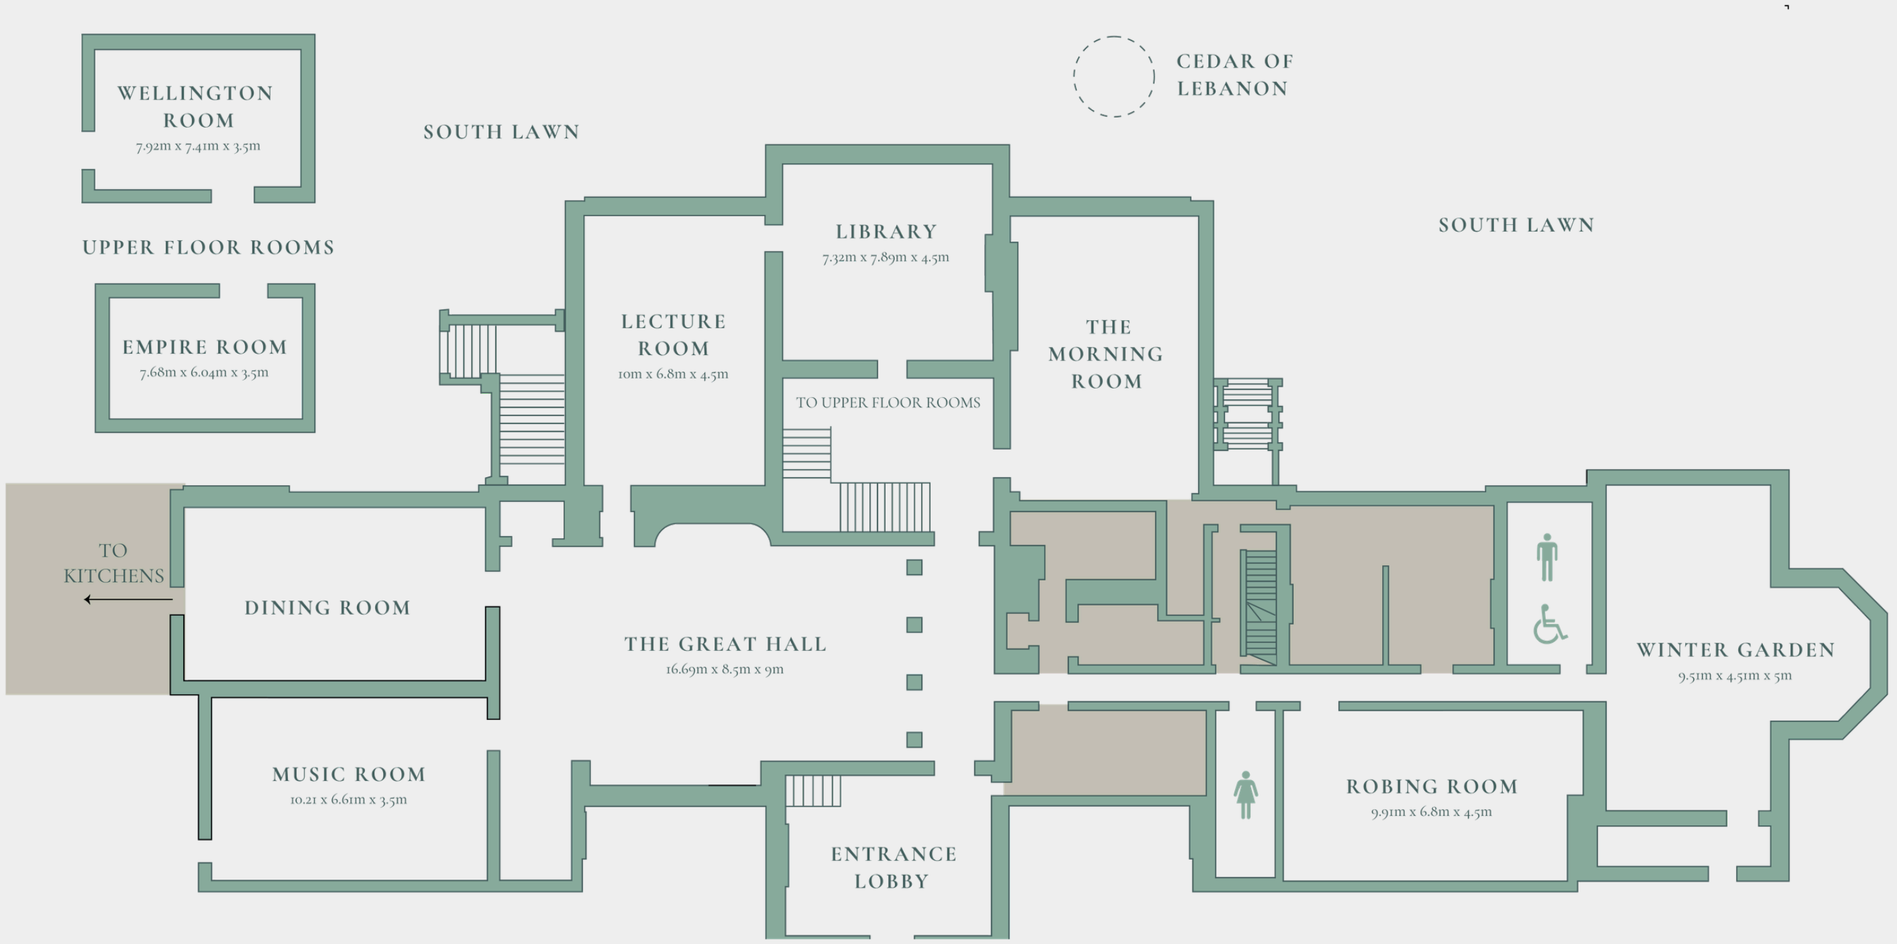

A STAGE FOR HISTORY

To marry here is to step into a story that spans centuries

From Henry VIII's courtship of Anne Boleyn to a Golden Jubilee banquet for Her Late Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, Addington Palace has long been a backdrop to British history. It has housed Archbishops of Canterbury, welcomed royalty and inspired generations of musicians. Today, it continues to attract Hollywood productions, fashion shoots and A-list talent.
